Hello Deb,
Thank you for your email.

Here is what I am willing to do. I am willing to get together with Krystal Moore and any others who want to join that meeting. The following is a non-negotiable precondition.

1. I will be willing to take all current and future references to Krystal off the internet and cease all current and future suits against her if she will come to a meeting, be deposed about all she knows and understands about wrongdoing not just in my case, but in all cases like Dort, Bitterfield, Klenberg, etc. Her deposition will be recorded in audio and on video. If she is found to lie about anything, all deals are off.

Deb, these are simple reasonable conditions and compassionate conditions. As I told her in my email (I have included that email below) to her when she backed out on May 8th saying she just "did not feel like testifying and it would not be that helpful, she has a chance to be either a legal hero or a zero. There are no other no other choices for her going forward. Because you are woefully uninformed, you are harboring, at this moment, a woman who continues criminal behavior. Whatever she told you about my threatening her in any way, or raising my voice in anyway is an abject fiction which will be clearly exposed in court. If you desire to make a business out of this thing and capitalize on Moore's contributions, turn your attention to Moore and help her understand that she has 2 choices and one last chance to execute on those choices. Legal Hero, or legal zero. Good luck to you and let me know how I can assist you in helping Krystal turn back to the light. A
